DETAILED ACTION

This office action is in response to the amendment filed May 21, 2004 in which claims 28-33 were added.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102/103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claim 27 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over DE 4416576.

DE teaches the manufacturing of spherical activated carbon wherein the product is prepared by mixing ground fruits, nuts or vegetable material (particle size 10-500 micrometers) that is impregnated with 2-4% aqueous Li salt solution with coal powder (particle size 10-80 micrometers) and cellulose fibers that are impregnated with the aqueous Li solution. The product also contains a phenolic binder. The resulting mixture is shaped to form spheres, dried, hardened, carbonized (300-650 C) and activated with CO₂ and/ or steam at 500-950 C (see CAPLUS abstract, EP abstract and DERWENT abstract).

DE does not teach that the spherical activated carbon is produced by applicant's claimed method. However, where the claimed and prior art products are identical or substantially identical in structure or composition, or are produced by identical or substantially identical processes, a prima facie case of either anticipation or obviousness has been established. In re Best, 562 F.2d 1252, 1255, 195 USPQ 430, 433 (CCPA 1977). Even though product-by-process claims are limited by and defined by the process, determination of patentability is based on the product itself. The patentability of a product does not depend on its method of production. If the product in the product-by-process claim is the same as or obvious from a product of the prior art, the claim is unpatentable even though the prior product was made by a different process." In re Thorpe, 777 F.2d 695, 698, 227 USPQ 964, 966 (Fed. Cir. 1985) "When the PTO shows a sound basis for believing that the products of the applicant and the prior art are the same, the applicant has the burden of showing that they are not." In re Spada, 911 F.2d 705, 709, 15 USPQ2d 1655, 1658 (Fed. Cir. 1990). Therefore, the prima facie case can be rebutted by evidence showing that the prior art products do not necessarily possess the characteristics of the claimed product. In re Best, 562 F.2d at 1255, 195 USPQ at 433.

Claims 1, 2, 4, 6, 8-10, 12-16, 19-24, 26 and 28-33 are allowable. The prior art fails to teach that the shaped articles are dried as a gas stream is passed over or that the shaped article is dried in a three-zone torque tube. The prior art fails to teach that an aggregate is added to the binding agent; or that the binding agent is molasses, coal tar, wood charcoal tar, bitumen and/or an inorganic gel. The prior art also fails to teach that the binders are homogeneously mixed with each other before being added to that carbon-bearing material.
